* Wireless delivery requires WiFi. Your Kindle's 3G connection is not sufficient. If your Kindle is not WiFi capable, or you do not have an active WiFi connection, you will need to manually transfer files via a USB connection. Please also note that some publishers may require you to transfer library books via USB. See instructions below.

How do I transfer an e-book to my Kindle via USB?

- Download and save the Kindle book to your computer's desktop.
- Connect the USB Cord between Your Computer and Kindle.
- Your Kindle will appear as an External Hard Drive.
- Move the Kindle book to the "documents" folder on your Kindle.
- Eject the Kindle and disconnect from the Computer.

How do I return an e-book?

All e-books automatically expire after 14 days, so you don't need to return the e-book. However, you do have the option of returning an e-book early. This makes the e-book available for other patrons and frees up your account to check out more e-books. You may have 15 e-books checked out to your card at a time.

- Log in to your Amazon account
- Click Manage My Kindle
- Select Action > Return
